

LAYL · GROWTH PLAN

The $1M month.

How a Dubai padel label gets to one million US dollars in revenue every month: the maths, the moves, the money, and the order to do them in.

Yes, it can be done. Here is the price.

$1M a month is AED 3.67M a month, or about AED 44M a year. A padel-only brand selling AED 220 tees in Dubai does not get there. A luxury sport house selling across the GCC, with stores, clubs, wholesale and corporate gifting working together, can, in roughly 30–36 months if it is funded and run well.

AED 3.67M

monthly revenue at target

~25,000

active customers a year, spending ~AED 1,750 each

70%

gross margin, from luxury pricing and no discounting

~20%

EBITDA at run-rate, around AED
750k a month

What it takes, in five lines

1. Move up-market. From “premium padel kit” to a luxury sport house. Prices roughly double, the look goes quiet, and nothing is ever discounted.
2. Leave Dubai early. Saudi Arabia becomes the biggest market (target ~35% of revenue). Then Doha and Kuwait.
3. Run five channels at once: online, own stores, club and hotel partners, luxury wholesale, and corporate gifting.
4. Sell scarcity, not stock. Ten numbered drops a year, waitlists, a members' society and a Ramadan edition.
5. Raise about AED 23–28M ($6–8M) in three rounds, each unlocked only by hitting the gate before it.

The honest part. Most apparel brands never reach $1M a month. This plan shows what has to be true, not a promise. Every number here is an assumption to test, and the gates in section 06 exist so that you find out cheaply if it isn't working.

Where the AED 3.67M comes from.

At month 36, the business would earn from five channels. No single channel has to carry it, which is what makes the target realistic.

CHANNEL	SHARE	AED / MONTH	WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE AT MONTH 36
Online, GCC-wide	45%	1,650k	~1,750 orders a month at AED 950 average. Arabic and English site, WhatsApp clienteling.
Own stores	20%	735k	Flagships in Dubai and Riyadh, 6 club boutiques, summer pop-ups.
Clubs, hotels & corporate	15%	550k	Official outfitter of ~25 premium clubs and 10 hotels; 150 corporate accounts.
Luxury wholesale	12%	440k	8–12 doors: GCC luxury e-tail and department stores, then international.
Editions & collaborations	8%	295k	Ramadan Qamar edition, racket collab, one designer collab a year.
Total	100%	3,670k	= $1.0M a month

Sanity check: is the market big enough?

AED 44M a year means roughly 25,000 customers spending ~AED 1,750 each, about two orders a year.

That is a small slice of the GCC's affluent padel players plus people who never play but want the court-to-dinner look. The lifestyle buyer matters: it is what lets the brand grow beyond the number of courts.

By market at month 36 (target):

MARKET	SHARE
UAE	40%
Saudi Arabia	35%
Qatar & Kuwait	15%
International (summer + online)	10%

Player and court numbers in the GCC are growing fast but published figures vary widely. Treat market size as directional and validate it with club-level data before raising money.

Luxury sport, priced like it.

The first brief priced LAYL as premium (AED 95–480). To reach $1M a month it has to sit next to the best athleisure and tennis-luxury labels: roughly double the prices, higher-quality makers, far fewer SKUs, and no sales.

TIER	PIECES	PRICE (AED)	EST. LANDED COST	GROSS MARGIN	ROLE
Essentials	Socks (3), cap, visor, towel	145–245	18–38	84–89%	Entry point, add-ons, gifting
Core	Bra, tanks, tees, skort, shorts, legging, long-sleeve, zip polo	345–645	50–105	83–86%	~60% of units, repeat buys
Hero	Cropped zip jacket, track jacket, overshirt, court dress	895–1,450	150–260	~82%	Halo pieces and campaign images
Objects	Racket bag, racket cover, co-branded racket	495–1,650	120–650	60–78%	High AOV, visible on every court
Editions	Qamar Ramadan dress, Partner Set, collabs	895–1,450	140–220	~84%	Scarcity, press, waitlists

Rules that protect the price

Never discount.

No sales, no promo codes. One private archive sale a year, for members only.

Numbered drops.

Ten drops a year in runs of 150–600. When it's gone, it's gone. Aim for 75%+ full-price sell-through.

Few SKUs, done properly.

40–60 styles at a time. Premium makers in Portugal and Turkey, Italian cooling yarn.

Service is the product.

WhatsApp stylists, same-day delivery in Dubai and Riyadh, free name printing, gift boxes.

Landed costs are estimates for premium makers at 300–1,000 units per style. Confirm with factory quotes. The racket would be a co-branded collaboration, which is why its margin is lower.

Eight engines, all running at once.

Each engine alone is a nice business. Together they reach $1M a month, because each one feeds the others: clubs create players, players join the Society, members buy the drops, and the drops make the press and the wholesale buyers pay attention.

01 Drops & scarcity

Ten numbered drops a year, each announced to a waitlist first. Target: 60k on the waitlist by month 36, and 40% of online revenue sold in the first 72 hours of each drop.

03 Clubs & hotels

Official outfitter of the best clubs: coach uniforms, a boutique rail, league kits. Then five-star hotels with courts. Target: 25 clubs and 10 hotels across the GCC.

05 Luxury wholesale

8–12 doors in GCC luxury e-tail and department stores, then international luxury e-tail. Wholesale is paced to protect margin and positioning.

07 Summer residency

The GCC customer spends summer abroad, so LAYL goes too: July–August pop-ups in Marbella (the padel capital) and London. It also opens Spain's padel market.

02 LAYL Society

An invite-only members' club at ~AED 1,200 a year: Night League entry, early access, a welcome piece, member courts. 2,000 members bring loyalty and about AED 2.4M a year.

04 Saudi first

Riyadh is the growth engine. Launch there by month 15 with Snapchat and Arabic-first content, a Riyadh Season pop-up, and a flagship by month 24.

06 Corporate & gifting

Ramadan and Eid boxes, bank and law-firm tournaments, hotel and family-office gifting. 150 accounts, about AED 6M a year, paid on order.

08 Faces

One top Arab padel player, 40 coaches and 100 creators. A "Night League" content series filmed on real courts after dark.

Month by month to the million.

MONTHLY REVENUE, AED (BASE CASE)

MONTH	REVENUE / MONTH	IN USD	CUSTOMERS (12-MO)	DOORS & STORES	TEAM
3	Pre-launch	—	5,000 on waitlist	—	6
6	AED 180k	$49k	1,200	5 club rails	8
12	AED 520k	$142k	4,500	10 clubs, 1 pop-up	14
18	AED 1.1M	$300k	9,000	KSA live, 3 wholesale doors	22
24	AED 1.9M	$517k	14,000	Dubai & Riyadh flagships	34
30	AED 2.8M	$762k	20,000	Doha, 8 wholesale doors	46
36	AED 3.7M	$1.0M	25,000	2 flagships, 6 boutiques, 12 doors	55–65

Roughly AED 2.5M in year one, AED 14M in year two and AED 34M in year three. The curve is steep on purpose: growth comes from opening Saudi, the flagships and wholesale, not only from more advertising.

Four phases, each earned.

PHASE 1

MONTHS 0–6

Build the house

Brand, 6 hero samples wear-tested at night, AI campaign images, waitlist, trademarks in the UAE, KSA and GCC. First two numbered drops. 5 club rails.

Gate: 2 drops sell 70%+ in 6 weeks; waitlist 5,000+

PHASE 2

MONTHS 6–15

Own Dubai

Monthly drops, LAYL Society founding members, 10 clubs, first hotel, first corporate Ramadan season, Marbella summer pop-up.

Gate: AED 400k+/month, 30% repeat, CAC ≤ AED 300. Raise the seed.

PHASE 3

MONTHS 15–24

Take the Gulf

Riyadh launch and flagship, Dubai flagship, first 3–5 wholesale doors, 25 clubs, KSA team and entity.

Gate: AED 1.5M+/month, KSA 25%+ of sales. Raise Series A.

PHASE 4

MONTHS 24–36

Scale the machine

Doha and Kuwait, international luxury e-tail, racket collab, second summer residency, 2,000 Society members.

Target: AED 3.67M/month = $1M.

Why the gates matter

Each phase costs more than the one before it. The gates stop you from opening a Riyadh flagship on hope. If a gate is missed, fix the product, pricing or positioning, then try again. Don't raise money to cover the gap.

What a $1M month looks like inside.

Monthly P&L at target

LINE (PER MONTH AT TARGET)	AED	% OF REVENUE
Revenue	3,670k	100%
Cost of goods (blended across channels)	1,100k	30%
Gross profit	2,570k	70%
Marketing, content, ambassadors, events	625k	17%
Fulfilment, payments, returns	295k	8%
Stores: rent and staff	330k	9%
HQ team	405k	11%
Tech, office, other	150k	4%
EBITDA	765k	~21%

Unit economics

ONE ONLINE ORDER	AED
Average order value	950
Product cost	-228
Shipping & packaging	-45
Payment fees	-29
Returns allowance	-48
Contribution before marketing	600 (63%)
Target cost to acquire a customer	≤ 280
Orders per customer over 2 years	~3.5
2-year value vs. acquisition cost	~7.5×

The numbers to watch every week

75%+

full-price sell-through per drop

≤ AED 280

cost to acquire a new customer

35%+

customers who buy again within 12 months

5.5×

revenue per AED of marketing

AED 950+

average online order

≤ 10%

return rate

Illustrative planning figures, excluding VAT. Blended cost of goods includes lower wholesale margins and the co-branded racket.

The capital, and who spends it.

ROUND	WHEN	AMOUNT	UNLOCKED BY	SPENT ON
Pre-seed	Now	AED 1.5–2.5M ($0.4–0.7M)	Founder, angels, friends & family	Samples, first drops, content, site, 6 hires
Seed	Month 9–12	AED 6–8M ($1.6–2.2M)	Phase 2 gate	KSA launch, Dubai flagship, inventory, team
Series A	Month 20–24	AED 15–18M ($4–5M)	Phase 3 gate	Riyadh & Doha, wholesale, summer residencies, scale
Inventory finance	From month 12	Revolving	Sales history	Stock for drops, so equity isn't spent on inventory

Total equity is roughly AED 23–28M ($6–8M). The bootstrapped alternative: grow from profits with no rounds. That reaches $1M a month in about year five or six instead of year three, and you keep all of the company.

Key hires, in order

0–6 months

Creative director (luxury, freelance first) · Head of product & sourcing · Growth marketer (Arabic and English) · Community & clubs lead · WhatsApp client advisor

6–18 months

Head of growth · Retail & store lead · Wholesale lead · Finance lead · CRM & data · Content studio (2)

18–36 months

KSA country manager · Head of retail · Planning & merchandising · PR & partnerships · Store teams in Dubai, Riyadh and Doha

What could stop it, and the answer.

RISK	WHAT WE DO ABOUT IT
Padel stops growing	Position as court-to-dinner luxury sport, not only padel kit. Tennis and resort capsules are ready if needed.
Prices too high for the market	Test the price ladder on the first two drops. Essentials give an entry point. Hero pieces stay as the halo.
Cash tied up in stock	Numbered drops, pre-orders on hero pieces, inventory finance, corporate orders paid upfront.
Quality below the price	Premium makers only, wear-tests at 45°C, a QC agent on the factory floor. One bad drop costs more than it earns.
Copycats	Speed, community and trademarks in every GCC market. Nobody can copy the Society or the Night League.
Saudi launch is harder than expected	A local partner or GM, a KSA entity early, Arabic-first content, and a pop-up before the flagship.
The name is taken	Trademark search this week. Backup names: SHAMAL, QAMAR, LAYLA.

Start on Monday.

1. Lock the name. Trademark search and filing for LAYL (or the backup) in the UAE, KSA and GCC. Buy the domain and social handles.
2. Brief a luxury creative director. Freelance first. Hand over the Maison lookbook as the brief.
3. Make the campaign. Use the image prompt pack to generate the first 20 campaign images, then launch a waitlist page.
4. Sample the heroes. Get quotes and samples for 6 hero pieces from 2 premium makers (Portugal and Turkey). Budget ~AED 60k.
5. Test demand with AED 15k. Run Instagram, Snapchat and TikTok ads to the waitlist. Measure cost per sign-up and which looks people pick.
6. Talk to 30 people who matter. 15 club owners, 5 hotel sports managers, 10 corporate HR and gifting buyers. Get 3 letters of intent.
7. Build the pre-seed deck. Use this plan, the lookbook and the waitlist numbers. Line up 20 angel meetings.

First proof point: 5,000 people on the waitlist and 3 club or corporate letters of intent within 60 days. If that happens, the $1M plan is worth funding. If not, fix the product and the pricing before spending more.