COLLECTION N° 01

After Dark

layl – n. Arabic, “night”

In Dubai, the game begins when the sun lets go.

Courts light up at nine. The city cools to thirty-eight degrees. The best matches end long after midnight, and the evening carries on at a table somewhere nearby.

LAYL is made for those hours. Cooling knits that forget the heat, hairlines of light that wake under the floodlights, and silhouettes quiet enough to walk straight from the court to dinner.

We make a few things, in small numbers, and we make them properly.
